

Anti-slavery and human trafficking statement

At IFM Investors, we are committed to preventing acts of modern slavery and human trafficking from occurring within our business and supply chain, and impose the same high standards on our suppliers.

September 2018

We are focused on investment returns over the long term, but making sure that we achieve these returns in a way that is socially responsible and ethical.

Our approach to responsible investment is closely aligned with the United Nations Global Compact, which enjoys global consensus and supports a set of core principles in human rights- including to ensuring companies are not complicit in human rights abuses, or deprivation of liberty.<sup>1</sup> The Compact focuses on labour standards, and demands an end to child labour and the elimination of all forms of forced and compulsory labour.

We believe only a strong and inclusive society can provide future investment growth, and we focus on what upholds human rights and gives workers a safe place to work.

IFM Investors further conducts its business activities in accordance with the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises as it relates to human rights, and runs periodic reviews against these guidelines.

When we invest in an asset, or make a significant investment in a company, our due diligence process includes an assessment against the GRI Human Rights Performance Indicators.

We undertake or have undertaken the following actions to ensure that we manage this risk exposure and deem this to be appropriate to the level of risk:

- As part of IFM Investors' supplier selection process, factors such as a supplier's resources, feedback from parties with prior dealings with them (if available) and reputation are considered prior to engaging a supplier. Additionally, our main outsourced service providers are reviewed periodically and other suppliers' conduct monitored on an ongoing basis;

- We have evaluated the nature and extent of our exposure to the risk of modern slavery occurring in our supply chain and have reviewed our suppliers to determine alignment with our standards. Where we find evidence of a failure to adhere to the same standards, we will immediately seek to terminate our relationship with the relevant supplier;
